Herald News & Advance Merge Publications

Oliver Brown, Editor, Predicts Combination
Will Result In 'More Effective' Newspaper

New Jersey's oldest Negro newspaper and New Jersey's largest selling Negro newspaper announced this week a merger of the two publications, effective immediately. The new weekly newspaper, to be known as the HERALD-ADVANCE, will have the most complete coverage of national, state, and local news of interest to Negroes of any newspaper in the state.

"We feel that in joining the two newspapers into one, we will emerge with a much stronger and more effective public medium," HERALD-ADVANCE editor, Oliver Brown stated. Mr. Brown served as managing editor and president of the New Jersey HERALD-NEWS since 1947.

"The HERALD-NEWS has been a lone voice crying in the wilderness for community progress while The ADVANCE has been a dedicated publication desirous of serving the public's needs. With the merger, I can only see a great publication serving a great community as the result," Mr. Brown said.

Founded in 1928, The HERALD NEWS has been a relentless fighter for the abolition of Jim Crow public schools, discrimination in employment, and the exclusion of Negro citizens from grand juries. The ADVANCE, founded just last year, has championed better housing and better schools for Negroes and the establishment of a Civilian Police Review Board to end police brutality against minority citizens.

"With the merger, we are getting a staff that is undoubtedly the best any newspaper has ever had in the city of Newark," Mr. Brown said. "We are proud of the coalition and we know the people will be proud of the product."

Paper's Policy

As for the policy of the new publication, Mr. Brown commented: "This newspaper belongs to the people—they are the boss, we are the workers. We feel that for a newspaper to be of real service to the community, it must be considered by its owners as belonging to the citizens. We are mere custodians."

In announcing the merger, Mr. Brown recalled the origin of the New Jersey HERALD NEWS 38 years ago, when it was called

The Newark HERALD.

Back in the days when not more than 10 percent, or about 40,000 residents of Newark was Negro, two real estate businessmen from Pittsburgh named Golden B. Darby and Fred R. Clark came to Newark to found The Newark HERALD. They set up offices on Bank and Wilsey Sts. and began publishing a standard-size newspaper to serve the needs of the city's Negroes.

Burrell Succeeds

Mr. Darby served as editor until 1931 when he left to assume the directorship of the Urban League of Chicago. He was succeeded as editor by Attorney J. Mercer Burrell who was assisted by James F. King.

In 1933, Melvin B. Johnson of Montclair, a graduate of Union University in Richmond, Va., became editor. "It was about this time that the HERALD entered the civil rights struggle in a big way," Mr. Brown recalls. "The fight was directed primarily at

Mrs. Bessie Smith, chairman of the People's Action Group, anti-poverty area board three, as she spoke at conference earlier last month. Mrs. Smith deplored lack of real opportunity for decision-making in city's anti-poverty program by poor people.

UCC Officials Win With Odd Tactics

Top officials of the United Community Corp., Newark's anti-poverty agency, succeeded in ramming through their official nominating committee slate at last week's annual meeting.

Using every parliamentary trick and every advantage that the chair would allow, the UCC officials successfully stifled debate on the controversial nominations. As a result, there was no discussion of the nominating committee's report and it passed easily through the annual meeting.

Despite the lack of discussion, at least 82 members (according to the UCC's own count) cast protest votes against the official UCC slate.

Following the meeting, civil rights advocates voiced bitter resentment against the heavy-handed tactics of the UCC power structure working hand-in-glove with its allies in City Hall. Robert Curvin, northeast regional director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), told UCC president Willard Heckel right after the meeting closed that he was "shocked" by the president's performance at the meeting.

Jersey A.M.E. Elder Named To St. James

Rev. Dr. D. McNeal Owens newly appointed minister of St. James, African Methodist Episcopal Church of Newark brings with him an outstanding church record in Administrative and Christian service.

So thoroughly imbued in his Administrative ministry as newly appointed Presiding Elder of Newark District, he was suddenly surprised a week later when Bishop John Bright of the First Episcopal District, A.M.E. Church at the recent Philadelphia Conference assigned him to Saint James.

Dr. Owens whose Christian and Administrative ministry has been praised by the present and past Bishopry of the A.M.E. First Episcopal District has served the state of New Jersey for the past twenty one years.

In 1947 he came to Trenton and served as pastor of Mt. Zion A.M.E. Church until 1955. Former Bishop D. Ward Nichols of the First Episcopal District in 1955 appointed him Presiding Elder of the New Brunswick District. This year within the span of a few weeks Dr. Owens saw himself appointed to high office in Christian Service in the A.M.E. church, one week as Presiding Elder of the Newark District and then some few days later surprised and made to feel exceedingly happy yet humble in spirit over appointment as minister of New Jersey's great St. James, A.M.E. church, located the employment situation."

"Clark picked up a campaign launched by the old Chicago Bee: 'Don't Spend Your Money Where You Can't Work.'

"He concentrated some heavy fire for Springfield Avenue merchants and his campaign marked the beginning of employment opportunities for Negroes in stores—especially Negro sales girls," Mr. Brown said.

In 1935, Mr. Clark lost the newspaper when the printer, during the height of the depression, foreclosed on a chattel mortgage. The printer turned the newspaper over to the staff: Melvin Johnson, editor; Russell Blaine, advertising manager; and Oliver Brown, sports editor. Shortly afterwards, Blaine lost his interest and the paper became the property of Johnson and Brown.

Sold Out

But the printer again foreclosed on a mortgage in 1937 and this time he sold the paper to C.B. Powell of The New York AMSTERDAM-NEWS.

As a result, Johnson and Brown joined forces with two brothers, Fred and Richard Martin, owners of Peerless Products in Jersey City, to publish the first issue of The New Jersey HERALD NEWS. Johnson again served as editor.

"I can still remember the first edition was typed on my typewriter in Johnson's apartment at 94 Barclay St.," Mr. Brown recalls.

In the meantime, Clark had also re-entered the field with his own paper, called the Newark GUARDIAN. On the Fourth of July, 1938, Mr. William Mulley, former advertising salesman for The GUARDIAN, assumed the post of circulation and advertising manager of the HERALD NEWS.

In late 1938, the Martin brothers bought the Newark HERALD back from Powell. The Martins then retained control until 1947, employing a series of editors, including Louis Blackman, Harry B. Weber, and Dr. Mark Moreland.

On Aug. 30, 1947, it was announced that the Martin brothers had sold their interest to Mr. Mulley, Mr. Brown, and Henry Graham, owner of the Graham Building now the Masonic Building at 188 Belmont Ave.

Terrific Fight

"It was at this time that the paper put on a terrific fight to put Negroes on grand juries," Mr. Brown recalls. "For 12 years, Negroes had not served on grand juries in Essex County and for 18 years in Union County. The Jury Commissioner of Union County said he didn't know any Negroes capable of serving. Two weeks after we wrote an editorial calling for his dismissal, there was a Negro on the Union County grand jury."

In 1949, Mr. Graham's interest was acquired by Attorney Herbert Tate.

Shortly afterwards, the paper went from standard to tabloid size. Mr. Brown had assumed the managing editorship when the Martin brothers sold the paper to him and his partners.

Editor No Newcomer To Herald

Oliver Brown, editor of the HERALD-ADVANCE, has been with this newspaper in one form or another practically since its birth 38 years ago.

His first assignment for the paper was to cover the 1928 Howard-Lincoln football game in Washington, D.C. while he was a student at New Jersey Law School.

"Fred Clark told me he always had me in mind for sports editor after he read that story," Mr. Brown recalls.

But it was not until 1934, after he returned to Newark from business ventures in Camden and Trenton, that he assumed the post of sports editor—at the grand salary of $3 a week.

A native of New Jersey, Mr. Brown was born in Flemington where he attended grade school and high school. He also attended the University of Maine, Lincoln University, and New Jersey Law School—the last of which he was forced to quit in 1929 due to lack of funds.

It was not long after Mr. Brown became sports editor of the New Jersey HERALD that his interests broadened, as did his responsibilities. He became secretary of the Newark Dodgers baseball team and public relations director of the Newark Eagles baseball team. Also, he wrote a night-life column for The HERALD.

Mr. Brown is especially proud of his association with the Eagles, a team which produced such all-time great major league stars as Larry Doby, Monte Irvin, and Don Newcombe.

"I still remember the day when Mrs. Effie Manley told Newcombe she was going to cut his salary

Police Conspiracy Charged By CORE

Contradictory Testimony and Mistatements Against Rent Strike Leader Are Cited

The case of rent strike leader Ida Brown, who was found innocent of hitting a Newark detective by an Essex County jury May 6, is causing new controversy because of testimony by a County prosecutor that a Newark policeman lied on the witness stand. Mrs. Brown collapsed with relief when the jury returned in ten minutes with a "not guilty" verdict after a legal struggle that began 16 months ago. Her testimony was believed as against that of two policemen and a landlord, but the sensational verdict in her favor was almost overshadowed by the discovery of a possible conspiracy against her by the police.

CORE Chairman Walter Stevens called for action against the police. "Mrs. Brown was an active rent striker", he said, "fighting a notorious city slumlord when she was apparently framed by two police detectives". Newark Community Union Project representatives hailed the case as a victory for Mrs. Brown and as "sworn testimony" that City Hall and police are backing slumlords.

The arresting police, Frederick Dinnerstein and John Bauman, testified separately in the case and offered contradictory accounts of the January 5, 1965 incident in which Mrs. Brown was charged with hitting Dinnerstein.

According to Dinnerstein, Mrs. Brown pushed Dinnerstein but was held and brought downstairs by himself; according to Mrs. Brown, Bauman pushed her from behind and she fell with Dinnerstein down the flight of stairs.

Mysterious Halt

After this contradiction developed, the trial was mysteriously halted while the prosecutor met, apparently in Judge John Sugrue's chambers, with officials of the Newark Police Department and the Policemen's Benevolent Association.

During this period, Mrs. Brown's attorney, Leonard Weinglass, said he was told by Assistant Prosecutor Michael F. Riccardelli that Bauman was going to recant his earlier testimony, and that the case would be dismissed and not go to jury.

Shortly afterward, both Bauman and Riccardelli were to take the witness stand. Contrary to what Weinglass had been told, Bauman did not recant.

Instead he testified that he was only speaking "in jest" when he told Riccardelli privately that Mrs. Brown actually had fallen down the stairs with Dinnerstein. However, in cross-examination, Bauman indicated that he met with PBA lawyers after he had spoken with Riccardelli about recanting.

Then Riccardelli himself took the witness stand, to be examined by chief County Prosecutor Brenden Byrne. Riccardelli testified that Bauman asked him in the hallway if he wanted to know "what really happened." Bauman then confessed said Riccardelli, that he matched his story with Dinnerstein's although in fact Mrs. Brown did fall down the stairs.

A final touch was added when Weinglass brought landlord Shustak back to the witness stand. Shustak testified earlier he was on "friendly terms" with Mrs. Brown until the incident occurred, but said he couldn't remember if he ("or my father") was there to padlock Mrs. Brown's door and call the truck to move her furniture.

The jury wasted no time in declaring Mrs. Brown innocent in a case which has been much-discussed for nearly two years.

City Officials Offer Same Old Run-a-Round

Who is responsible for the deplorable conditions in Newark's public schools? Who is responsible for the overcrowded facilities, the overburdened staff, and the under-educated students?

This question arose once again this month when a group of students from South Side High School--where 1,700 students are enrolled in a 50-year-old school with a maximum capacity of 1,200--appealed to the board of education and to the city council for immediate action to build the long-overdue addition to their school.

Their attempt to budge Newark's bureaucracy just a little bit in the direction of action met with the kind of run-a-round Newark citizens have come to expect from their city officials.

The students spoke first to the members of the board of education and then to the members of the city council. At the board of education, the students were told they ought to speak to the city council. "After all, the city councilmen appropriate the money, we can only make suggestions," the students were told.

But when they appeared before the city council, the students were told to go back to the board of education because, after all, the city council only appropriates the money, whereas the board of education decides how the money will be spent.

In the face of this nonsense, the students persisted. They wanted to know why nothing had been done in previous days, in previous months, and in previous years. They were informed by the president of the council that the council had not received some kind of "a letter" from the board of education.

When the students wouldn't accept this particular nonsense and continued to ask questions, they were met with growing irritation and even hostility from their elders. City clerk Harry Reichenstein, chief guardian of the council's reputation, protested that there was "nothing funny" about the councilmen's excuses for failure to take action. It was most improper for anyone to laugh at the councilmen's remarks, the city clerk commented.

In fact, if the conditions in the schools weren't so serious the entire affair would be very humorous indeed. This is just another example of the city's indifferent attitude to the future lives of Newark's 75,000 school children, most of whom are Negro.

Crooms Corner

By David Crooms

Question: what is your reaction to the daily newspapers limited coverage of Negro news in a city that has a Negro population of 53%?

Allen Green

I believe that the Negro people who live in the city should be the ones who have the coverage. I believe they are the ones who support the paper and they should be the ones that appear in it. Most of the time you find that the Negro only gets in the paper in any noticeable place if he has committed a crime. I don't believe that the people should stand by and let the city daily papers get away with only publishing the bad things.

Yvonne Smith

I believe that the prime example of this neglect is that of their coverage of the comic Dick Gregory and Carl Stokes, the man who almost elected mayor of Cleveland. These men were in the city and I believe that if the daily papers would have followed them more closely, these people would have been able to get their message through to the people.

Allen Wimberley

I feel that the people are the real ones that are at fault because they support the paper by buying it either at the newsstands or having it delivered to their homes. If they would stop that delivery until the paper decided that they would cover the Negro events. The papers would have a lot more concern about the conditions that exist and they would be more informative to the people that support that paper.

Lyric Bar Features

Little 'Bombshell'

From the far-away land of golden oranges and bright sunshine, Lavern Sancho has traveled to the bitterness of the big city, where she has, through much pain and agony, carved out a slice of success as a hot blues singer.

The attractive little "bombshell" who is currently appearing at Mels Lyric Bar on Springfield Ave., admits that it hasn't been all peaches and cream. Back in Orlando, Florida, she had dreams of the giant flood lights; the pink champagne and blue violets--she dreamed of it so much that it became an obsession. With the obsession bearing down on her, she decided to head for Broadway and the big lights--she found them but not exactly the way she had dreamed they would be.

"I had never dreamed that so many people wanted to sing," she recalled.

Fronting her own small group, Lavern made one of her first appearances at the White Birch Inn, in Spring Valley, New York, where to her surprise, the audience loved her. With excitement pounding in her young heart she began to hit the hot spots as a solo.

A mixture of Pearl Bailey, Dinah Washington and "Big Mabel" Little Miss Rhythm, as she is known in the entertainment world, has been singing around town for the past 10 years. "And I love it," she quipped. "Never have I met so many people and they are such warm crowds--those night club goers," she concluded.

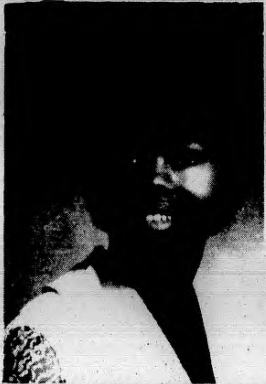

Daughter of a spiritual singing mother, Lavern is the mother of a 13-year-old son.

Weequahic Students Win Scholarships

Patricia Terry, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olando Terry, has been awarded a New Jersey State scholarship in the amount of $500, and will use the money toward her first tuition year at Rutgers University.

Patricia, is a Senior at Weequahic High School, a member of the student council, and Senior Class Council, for 1966. She is also a member of the Hebrew Club; Contemporary Club and the Math Club.

After completing her studies at Rutgers University, Patricia hopes to continue her work in Newark.

Valerie McCallum 17-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leo Mc-

Callum of 179 Ridgewood Ave., has been offered a New Jersey State Scholarship in the amount of $500, which she will use toward her studies at Montclair State College in September.

A member of the Weequahic High School Yearbook staff, the attractive senior is chairman of the Prom Committee, and chairman for costume used in school plays. "I like to sew, cook and bake—but best of all I like Rock & Roll music," the popular Weequahic Senior said.

Thomas W. Bradshaw, 17, of 319 Seymour Ave., and a senior at Weequahic High School, has been offered $500 from the Newark News toward a scholarship to Rutgers University.

Bradshaw, who is an accomplished piano player, is also a flutist with the Weequahic High School Band. In Church, the 5'7" Bradshaw has played piano for the past two years.

The all-around student who has recently won the gold medals for his performance in fencing, hopes to come out of Rutgers with two degrees—he is working under the 5-year student plan.

A 15-year-old Weequahic High School Senior, who has traveled to Russia, Spain, The Middle East, East Berlin, and—among other almost incredible plights, she has had an audience with Pope John, has just received a $2100 scholarship award from Rensselaer Polytech Institute, located in Troy, N.Y.

Roslyn Proctor, popular daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Roy Proctor of 74 Keer St., is president of the school's debating club, an active member of the National Honor Society, and a member of the Future Physicians Clubs of America.

A tireless little whirlwind of activity, the 135 lb bundle of knowledge, can always be found darting from one organization to another. She handles a cooking class, and plays the guitar. She is chairman of the public relations committee for the Newark Junior Museum, and to top this off, she is treasury for the Youth Round Table at the Elizabeth Avenue Presbyterian Church, where she is a member.

"She is so busy, anymore, she has very little time for us," Dr. Proctor lamented.

A well-known Dentist, Dr. Proctor came from his native Georgia many years ago. His wife is from South Carolina. Daughter of one of Newark's most popular integrated couples, Roslyn has been a member of the Junior Museums since she was three years old. She was editor of the Museum's Magazine, Entitled Drunk, for two years. Recipient of the daughters for revolution citizenship award, the bright-eyed youngster has studied Ballet at the Newark Academy. The Citizenship award which had been bestowed upon her by DAR, was for patriotism, leadership, service, among others.

Along the musical lines, Roslyn has been active in playing with groups for church school. She also performed warmly at the Evening of the Performing arts, which was held at the "Y" having danced various recitals at churches and schools, the meticulous speaker said that; "My activities have been very inspirational."

Roslyn loves horseback riding, cooking and listening to GOOD music.

Sybil James, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis James of 20 Eckert Street in Newark, has declined an offer of $1000, which had been offered by Howard University, to study mathematics at Douglas College—a branch of Rutgers.

The attractive Weequahic High School Senior is a member of the library and history club, and has participated in school plays for the past two years.

Sybil is very fond of cooking, and specializes in several Italian and Japanese dishes. Interested in Folk-rock (thats a term of music I believe) and her favorite entertainer is Sammy Davis, Jr. After graduating, Sybil hopes to go into the field of Mathematics—with a preference to working in Newark.

Harold J. Ashby, Jr., 17-year-old senior at Weequahic High School has accepted a scholarship award from Harvard University and expects to enter the 130-year old school as a pre-law student this fall.

The only child of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Ashby, Sr., of 236 Custer Ave., Newark, young Ashby has already felt the surge of politics and once told his father that he might take a crack at the political field one day.

After learning of his son's decision to enter Harvard, Ashby, president of the Newark Board of Education, said that he and his wife were elated.

Ben Epstein, school principal at Weequahic said he is "a natural leader. I believe he will excel in leadership, wherever he goes," Epstein declared.

An active worker with the Weequahic Church Sunday School, young Ashby received the youth leadership award in 1965.

Ida Brown Wins Case

In the wake of the Prosecutor's testimony, the Newark-Essex Chairman of CORE sent letters to Byrne, asking for a Grand Jury indictment of the police, and to Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio expressing distress at City Hall's failure to take disciplinary action against the officers.

Mrs. Brown is reportedly considering a legal suit for damages.

RENT STRIKE LEADER

Mrs. Brown was one of the leaders of rent strikes against slum landlords in the summer of 1964. It was a struggle primarily supported by Students for a Democratic Society, the Clinton Hill Neighborhood Council, and the Newark Community Union Project (NCUP) which was formed that fall to fight slum conditions.

Addonizio and Central Ward Councilman Irvine Turner were among the City officials who saw conditions at Mrs. Brown's basement flat at 406 Clinton Ave.

One hundred housing code violations were reported, and welfare tenants in the building said they were afraid to complain because of threats by Shustak and the difficulty of finding new apartments for their families.

When Mrs. Brown and other tenants picketed the building, Deputy Mayor Paul Reilly said he feared a riot. South Ward Councilman Lee Bernstein, an ally of Shustak, said he thought the demonstrating was "disgraceful" and "irresponsible."

Mrs. Brown won a significant legal victory that fall when the Superior Court ruled that her side should be heard in tenant-and landlord court.

But Shustak ("the friendly landlord") then received a court order for the return of his property by January 2. Not only that, he shut her out of the apartment and padlocked her furniture inside before she was to leave even while two of her five children were sick.

After the January incident occurred, City Magistrate James Del Mauro found Mrs. Brown guilty of hitting Shustak in a heated trial where the judge accused her of being used by "subversives." Mrs. Brown says she was visited also by men who identified themselves as officials and said she would be treated well if she testified against several organizers from SDS.

Though she protested her innocence, Mrs. Brown accepted Del Mauro's verdict of guilty since his sentence was for one year on probation rather than time in jail.

During that time, an NCUP group was told by Dinnerstein that Shustak was his friend, and even once offered to sell him the building at 406 Clinton.

Why did the police trip themselves up? This question was asked by a number of trial observers.

The larger question asked by civil rights groups was whether the lying of policemen is the rule, or whether this case was an exception. Walter Stevens of CORE declared: "Suspicion and distrust of the Newark Police Department justifiably increase when people hear about cases like Mrs. Brown's...We cannot allow our courts of law to harass innocent people."

Jackie Robinson A Trip To Detroit

We're still feeling pretty wonderful about a trip to Detroit a few days ago when we attended the annual convention of the National Negro Republican Assembly (NNRA).

NNRA was founded in San Francisco at that phoney G.O.P. convention at which the Republi-

Since NNRA was born out of protest, those of us who have been entrusted with leadership roles in the organization, feel it should remain an alert and militant instrument to be used for the good of the people. We feel it should be independent and should resist any outside influence which might seek to dominate it.

NNRA wants to help rebuild The Republican Party which Mr. Goldwater almost destroyed. But we know that the Negro voter will not return to the Party unless the Party proves it is through trying to be all things to all people. Republican politicians must become American statesmen if they are to succeed in reviving the sorry old elephant.

As little as I care for Richard Nixon, he has been saying some pretty militant and intelligent things recently regarding race matters. And he has been saying them in the South.

We were impressed at an NNRA breakfast session, with the sincerity and insight of Governor George Romney. The Governor said all the right things that non-Southern Governors say to colored audiences. But he went a giant step further. With a refreshing candor, he spoke his mind about his concept of the role the Negro should play. At this point, we sighed. Here it comes again. Vote for good old Abe—he set you free. But Governor Romney did not take that tired old line at all. Instead he advanced some choice advice.

He counseled Negroes to stop segregating themselves politically. It is fine to have a group like NNRA—but NNRA should affiliate and interact with other Republican groups. As individuals we should intermingle in other Republican groups.

Next, he suggested that we stop undercutting each other and sneaking behind each other's backs to criticize and character assassinate each other.

Last he proposed that minority groups could best serve their vital interests by keeping political parties guessing by refusing to put all their eggs in one basket.

We respect the Michigan Governor for this kind of frank and unselfish advice.

Bembry Will Attend College In N. Carolina

Weequahic Basketball Captain Awarded

$1,400 Scholarship To Belmont Abbey

Larry Bembry, Weequahic High School's young Basketball Captain has been awarded a $1,400-a-year athletic scholarship from Belmont Abbey College, near Charlotte, No. Carolina.

In accepting the offer, Bembry hopes to major in liberal arts, and after graduation will come back to Newark where he intends to teach in the secondary school system. Larry is the son of Mrs. Willie Johnson of 321 Chadwick Street.

Mrs. Johnson, whose modesty her son seems to imitate in his manner, is currently employed at the RCA Company in Harrison.

Bembry has not only been honored by the all-star team of the Essex County Holiday tournament, but has also been picked on the New York Daily News All-Star Essex County first team.

A meticulous young man with leadership abilities that runs far beyond his mere 17 years-- a central bond perhaps, which has been molded by the long experience of his parents. Larry Bembry, is, as we now see him, a man almost certain to make good in whatever endeavor he decided upon.

An ardent reader, Bembry is also deeply engrossed in social studies, church activities and his fellow students. The latter can be established by his actions as a star in many of Weequahic's most gruelling games. Average of 12 points per game with the team has often placed him on top while playing against some of the best competition from other top notch performers.

"I'm simply proud of my son-- what else can a mother say," Mrs. Johnson said with a tear swelling at the corner of her left eye.

In his off hours, Larry works as a grocery clerk at the Met Market on Bergen Street, and hopes to help support some of the cost of his college education.

A big, tall, gangling youngster with a warm smile, Bembry is well known around Weequahic-- and is, generally known by the faculty as a gentleman.

in Newark corner of High and Court Streets. Dr. Owens replaces the eminent Rev. Dr. Eustace L. Blake who pastored at St. James for a period of 16 years. He was named to the pastorate of Jones Tabernacle, Philadelphia. Rev. Dr. Owens preached his first sermon at St. James on May 22 and took as his theme the subject, "A Living Faith." He said in his sermon, stressing the idea that over and above the recent concept of the "Death of God," we must persuade the people that we Worship Jesus Christ by a "Living Faith," and that God is not dead but lives in the "Hearts of Men."

Dr. Owens before being assigned to serve in the ministry of the A.M.E. church in New Jersey served for five years in the Island of Bermuda, as both pastor of St. Paul A.M.E. church known as the Cathedral of the African Methodist Episcopal church and as Presiding Elder. He said that in the Conferences in which he has served, the Lord has allowed his work to serve as an effective witness.

His 21 years of Christian and Administrative service in New Jersey adds up as; 2 years in Camden, pastor of Macedonia A.M.E. church, 8 years in Trenton as pastor of Mt. Zion, A.M.E. church and 11 years as Presiding Elder in the New Brunswick and Newark Districts.

Rev. Dr. Owens is a graduate of Morris Brown College and the Turner College of Theology of Atlanta. He was awarded the Degree of Doctor of Divinity for outstanding Christian service by Payne Seminary. His wife is Mrs. Naomi D. Owens.

IMPORTANCE OF CONDITIONING YOUR HAIR

First, Hair "Conditioners" as the words imply are substances which you can use to improve the appearance and feel of your hair. The use of hair conditioner is most important on hair which has suffered damage from some external source such as the sun, hot comb, chemicals or the abuse of neglect. Hair conditioners are also used on normal hair to beautify, preserve its natural beauty as well as to prevent dryness, brittle cracking conditions. The SHIM Hair Formula contains substances derived from ingredients that closely resemble the structure of our hair. SHIM Formulas contain ingredients which are intended to penetrate your hair. A certain amount of swelling takes place within your hair giving it new softer, more elastic body. Parts of your hair which are more porous absorb your SHIM far easier than sprays or grease. This results in a longer lasting hair style, curl, wave, setting. Naturally it improves the luster, the feel and the look of your hair. Many women both home hairdressers and professional hair stylists praise the results obtained by conditioning hair with the SHIM Hair Formula. SHIM Hair Formula as well as the SHIM Lan-O-tress and the SHIM Wave-tress Formulations are available at your favorite drug store. Satisfaction with your results, whether you are a professional or a home hairdresser is guaranteed. You must be absolutely pleased with the results or your purchase price will be cheerfully refunded. Latest SHIM Hair Style Charts and formulation information BOOKLET will be sent to you FREE if you send your name, address and zip code to SHIM HAIR CONDITIONING Dept. Box 69A, Sheepshead Bay, Brooklyn, N. Y. 11535. Note: Hair Conditioning between visits to your beauty parlor is more important today than ever due to the latest trend towards the addition of hair pieces and wigs. The SHIM Formulations are ideal for setting HUMAN HAIR, WIGS, and HAIR PIECES because of the DEEP PENETRATION. Many drug stores which have the SHIM Hair Conditioning Formulas also have the FREE Hair Style Booklet as well as CARBONOL used for SCALP TREATMENT. ENJOY IT!

Naturally Healthy Normal Hair GROWS from the HAIR ROOTS in YOUR SCALP. The health of your hair often depends heavily on the natural health of your scalp. Years ago, DOCTOR CARBONOL invented a medicated hair formula called CARBONOL which is mixed with many proven botanical ingredients. CARBONOL is such a strong, powerful antiseptic and does such fine work in helping an ITCHY, BUMPY, DANDRUFFY scalp that many DOCTORS regard it highly and PRESCRIBE it for many scalp troubles. Many annoying externally caused scalp conditions are greatly relieved by the use of this Triple strength hair formula. Write for this DOCTOR'S GENUINE SCALP FORMULA now. It will be sent to you at no charge and ready to use. USE IT FOR 1 DAY, and if you are not satisfied, your money back. Pay only $1.95 on delivery. This includes everything. Don't pay a penny more. You get 1 bottle and 2 bottles. Use the MOST MEDICATED SCALP FORMULA your money can buy. Your hair and scalp deserve the care. Just send your name and address to-GOLD MEDICAL HAIR PRODUCTS INC., Dept. V-1, Sheepshead Bay, Brooklyn 35, N.Y. NOTE THIS FORMULA carries a 100% written money back guarantee. Carbonol Medicated Scalp Treatment has been used by expert New York Beauticians and Barbers since 1928. Your Drugstore here in Newark have Carbonol for over 30 years. Aunt Ruth College Girl

Dear AUNT RUTH,
I am 19 and I have been enrolled in a small Negro college in the South for over two years. I would like now to transfer to a northern integrated school. I agreed to come South because my parents are from here and insisted that the experience would be good for me. I do not agree with them and I am at odds with myself as to how to let them know of my unhappiness. They have worked very hard to keep me here and are quite proud of my achievements. The trouble I have experienced is adjusting to the life here.

Situated in a small town in the midst of a rural—and still jim-crow—county, the school is isolated from all cultural outlets. Both the students and the faculty are bored beyond description.

As a result there is much "partying"—as they call it—and frequenting of roadside dives and motels where a girl can, and more often then not, does get in serious trouble. With little else to do, many of the girls, especially those from the surrounding communities, accept this as "college life".

In other words, I cannot accept fully the folkways of a small southern community where drinking and sex are the only pastimes. How can I get my parents to see this.

Millie

Dear Millie,
Be firm. Tell them that you feel instinctively that two years of this is enough for any girl who has been unexposed to the sheer boredom of small town environments and that you are now ready to attend school elsewhere. Do not discuss the problem at school until you are ready to leave, however. Enjoy your remaining days there as best you can. Be content with the knowledge that in two years you have gained insight into how others live. This may have been what your parents meant by sending you there in the first place although I do not agree with this kind of thinking when it comes to selection of schools. Too many of our parents believe that sending northern-bred youngsters south to school is a cure-all for most any problem. At times it is most helpful but at other times shipping a youngster to school in an alien environment can be for the child a traumatic experience.

Aunt Ruth

WILL HAVE BABY FOR BROTHER-IN-LAW

Dear AUNT RUTH,

Recently my sister got married to a very nice young man. She is 22 years old and he is 25. My problem is that I am pregnant for my brother-in-law. I liked him very much before they got married and somehow we sneaked around afterwards and I got in this condition. My sister never suspected anything. I love my sister dearly and I cannot bear to face her in telling her this situation. What should I do?

Can't Bear It

Dear Can't Bear It,
Shame on you! The damage is already done. There is nothing else to do but to make arrangements for the baby. A logical first step would be to discuss the whole matter with your minister or some other confidant that you respect. It might be easier for all concerned that if and when your sister is told sound plans for care of the child have already been made; this would include whatever contribution her husband would make. It might be wiser if you move away altogether. But before making any decision, talk to some one you trust. There is absolutely no easy solution to your problem. (ANP Feature)

Peace Is God's Business

By

Martin Luther King

Some of my friends of both races and others who do not consider themselves my friends have expressed disapproval because I have been voicing concern over the war in Viet Nam. It is dangerous, foolish and unnecessary. Look at the Negro and gunshot wounds it has been inflicting. The Martin Luther King, Jr., is "getting out of his depth." I have been chased, even by fellow civil rights leaders, members of Congress and brothers of the cloth for "steering to the business of civil rights."

Actually, I do not seek to convert criticism merely to an ego-boosting exercise. I live to continually and persistently add to my numerous activities the heavy of defensive debate about my personal convictions. I would not like this job for my back. However, because I believe that many of those who have spoken and written in opposition to my cry for peace are men of good will who really do not understand my motivation, I would like to pose here three overriding reasons why I see it as my responsibility, personal and public, to see for a war-less world.

War Is Wrong

First and foremost, I am a minister of the Gospel. As a clergyman, in the prophetic Judeo-Christian tradition, I would be less than honest if I did not say, with all the force at my command, and at every opportunity which presents itself, that I believe that war is wrong. One of the charges my critics register is that I have no right to address myself to the Viet Nam question because I am not an "expert." On surface, this is a true indictment. Yet, at bottom, I am expert in recognition of a simply eloquent truth. That truth is that it is sinful for any of God's children to brutalize any of God's other children, no matter from what side the brutalization comes. I believe there are legions of people throughout this world who recognize that and, who, like myself, are unwilling to leave the conflicts of the world in the hands of the experts. Recently, it was written that the late President Kennedy had posed the White House ethics question: "How do you alter the character of the Bay of Pigs, maintaining that he never should have listened to the experts."

Peace And Non-Violence

As a minister of the Gospel, I cannot advocate racial hatred and non-violence for black men alone, nor white men alone, nor for yellow men alone. Men, be they black and treble white, are of equal importance in God's heavenly court. If a man of God fails to seek to help bring about peace on earth as well as good with among men, he isn't much of a spokesman for the Christ who predicted, centuries ago, that he who lives by the sword shall perish by the sword.

I Am An American

There is a second reason why I must involve myself in the long-fought effort to change the jangling discords of our land: tonight and tomorrow's rhythms of migration and reason-and ultimately to have a marvelous symphony of peace. I am an American. Despite the shortcomings of this imperfect democracy, I love America. I love her because she belongs so much to me as to any other American, with the possible exception of the descendants of American Indians. This land is my land-a legacy earned by the blood, sweat, toil and sacrifice of black men and women who tilled the earth and enriched culture and shaped justice and morality and made America King. I do not want to see my nation destroyed, so surely she must be in the flaming fires of war. War is obscure. It is a cruel and senseless waste of resources and the annihilation of God's Creation as any other man. Yet, I believe that our guns and bombs do not prove that we love democracy. They prove that we still believe that might makes right. We still believe it, despite the fact that common sense and human experience tell us there has never been a true conqueror, standing outside the rules created by the madness of civilization.

Human Rights

The third reason I seek world peace is one which seems to me to contain its own report to those who insist that I "stick to the civil rights business." Of them I ask, with the late Mr. Kennedy: "Is not peace, in the last analysis, a matter of human rights?" If I could advocate non-violence in Montgomery, Alabama in Birmingham and Albany, Georgia and in the swirling chaos of the North, how can I not be consistent and not see to any that violence is as wrong in Hawaii as it is in Harlem? The Negro must not allow himself to become a victim of the self-serving philosophy of those who manufacture war that the survival of the world is the white men's business alone. He must only be a part of the solution. He must be a part of the solution that is to be deployed in the future days of the millennium when we have international peace to be achieved. What shall it profit the Negro to avoid himself of an integrated mankind or a quality education or a good job or a decent home- in the midst of horrible death and killing bombs? The historian, Arnold Toynbee, once suggested that it may be the Negro who will give the new spiritual impulse to Western civilization that it so desperately needs to survive. That same impulse, that same non-violent spirit and courage which brought obedient men to the conference table in the West- phalia of the North might well achieve identical victory with Negroes.

It is victory which must be won. For, there is no longer a question of violence or non-violence in the world. The great question now is human non-violence and non-violence. That is the practical point. The moral point is that the plea for peace is God's business. Therefore, it is yours and mine. (ANP Feature)
